REUTERS' AGENCY.

"The contradictions in the news from India this week have been very remarkable," said the "Manchester Guardian" on Oct. 5, "and it was never more important than now, when the English people have need to be forming some views about our future policy there, that we should have news that will not subside when we begin to build upon it."

"What Mr. Keir Hardie really said we know from his own telegram to the 'Daily Mail,' from a telegram sent by the Calcutta correspondent of the 'Tribune,' and also from a telegram published from Reuters' correspondent to-day. He had drawn a parallel between the Bengal Government and that of Russia only in so far as concerned the ubiquity of the police and the suppression of public meetings; the parallel with Armenia had to do solely with the violation of Hindu women by Mohammedan rowdies; and as for colonial government, he had said that that was the ultimate goal, not an immediate object or right. These explanations may not make Mr. Keir Hardie's speech discreet, but they acquit him of using wild words and rhetorical exaggeration."

"Reuters' correspondent either did not know the context of Mr. Hardie's parallels or deliberately suppressed it in which case he was inflaming English opinion; and, what is more, when Mr. Hardie returned to Calcutta he was so careless or so prejudiced that he again neglected to give the context, and represented Mr. Hardie's explanations as an exultant justification. Nor is this the first time by any means that Reuters' correspondent has been accused of political misrepresentation; it is not long since we published a letter from six Calcutta editors complaining of the prejudicial character of his news; but this particular instance, being a personal and simple one, is particularly instructive. It shows that Reuters' correspondent is a man who sees only two colours, black and white, and that his telegrams are, therefore, not to be trusted as a foundation for judgments in politics, whose colours, in India, as here, are mostly greys and browns."

"This is a very serious matter indeed, for Reuters' telegrams are the only materials for opinion on Indian affairs that most people have, and they are the telegrams mainly read, largely because the Agency has the reputation of being concerned with the dissemination only of news, and not of views. When an obviously tendentious telegram appears in a strong party organ the reader is on his guard, and has a chance of correcting the perspective. The announcement that a telegram comes through Reuters' Agency gives no such warning, but lulls suspicion."

"The country is, in fact, in danger of having its opinions on India warped by a slow, steady drip of prejudiced news, as it was in South Africa. In South Africa the problem of news collecting was excessively difficult, for the whole business was in the hands of a wealthy body of men who were determined that there should be no reconciliation, and the home Government was more or less in sympathy with them. The conditions are surely not so bad in India, nor is the India Office committed to a policy which would make satisfaction of legitimate Indian demands impossible."

"Reuters' Calcutta correspondent to-day," continued the "Manchester Guardian," in its issue of Oct. 7, "sends an explanation of his misleading messages on Mr. Keir Hardie's speech last week. He says that the statements were reported absolutely without qualification in the 'Statesman,' and 'Bengalee,' and other papers. That, if true, might be held to justify his first telegram, which was given on the authority of the Bengali papers; on the other side, it would have been only fair to Mr. Keir Hardie to have waited for confirmation of these reports before sending a telegram which he must have known would greatly agitate opinion in England. . . . This illustrates our point of Saturday that Reuters' correspondent showed himself a good advocate, but a bad reporter. He can please himself whether he believe Mr. Hardie or not, but he must also have the goodness to let other people have a chance of pleasing themselves too; and his business was to report what Mr. Keir Hardie himself said he said, especially as he had got Mr. Hardie into trouble by reporting what other people said he said."

The Cairo Season.

The Cairo correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" states that the wedding of Mlle. Bertha de Willebois, the daughter of Consul-General for Holland, which will take place in November, will undoubtedly start the season early for all the diplomatic and official world will return in time to be present.

Protection of Children.

A meeting was held at the Gouvernator on Saturday night under the presidency of Mustapha Pasha. The object of the meeting was the protection of Alexandrian children. The meeting was largely attended, and subscriptions being called for, a sum of L.E. 240 was promised from among those present.

Omdurman Trade.

Trade is still rather dull at Omdurman, notwithstanding the arrival of large quantities of goods. It was hoped that as soon as the railway was open and goods began to arrive, business would improve. But this hope has not been realized. Either sufficient time has not yet been given to the market to recuperate, says the "Sudan Times" or financial matters are still in a straitened condition.

Tour Effel.

The management of this popular variety hall scored a certain success in departing from its usual programme on Saturday evening, and presenting to quite a large and thoroughly appreciative audience a new and skilful turn in the shape of a quick change artist. His sketch, in which he acts all the characters, occupies the whole of the third part of the programme, preceding which a good selection of new variety turns are given, while retaining some of its old favorites.

Locusts in the Sudan.

In a letter to the "Sudan Times" Ibrahim Bey Farah Sheikh of the Gaalin tribes, says that the Sudan was visited by locusts in 1866, when the swarms were so numerous and destructive that they devoured almost every thing in their way. Even leather articles and furniture did not escape their depredations. The locusts that appeared there this year, however, were more numerous and would have been more destructive had it not been for the prompt and active measures taken by the authorities to destroy them. He drew a comparison between the interest taken by the Government on this occasion and the lack of interest which used to be manifested when the country was visited by similar plagues in the days of the old regimes.

Clayton Gas Co.

On Saturday afternoon the first trial trip took place of the new steamer for the Alexandrian station of the Clayton Gas Company Limited. This steamer, which has just arrived from England, was built by John Rennie and Company of Greenwich specially for the Company's peculiar requirements and is to be chiefly used for the disinfection of ships in the harbour. The steamer is fitted with a complete disinfecting apparatus and is thus able to proceed alongside any boat requiring its services. Mr. F. MacKinnon, the managing Director of the Company, was on board the steamer during its trial on Saturday and expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with the behaviour of the craft, everything working with the greatest smoothness. The company expect to disinfect their first steamer next week in the presence of the members of the Quarantine Board. The next plant to arrive at Alexandria is now on its way from England. This consists of a large but portable disinfecting apparatus, mounted on a steam wagon and is specially constructed for the purification of public buildings, houses, factories, barracks, etc.

EGYPTIAN DELTA LAND AND INVESTMENT LIMITED.

There was a decline on Friday last in the shares of the Egyptian Delta Land and Investment Limited in consequence of a report that the Government had decided in favour of Tourah for the sewage farm. If this were true the estate of the company at Maadi would greatly depreciate in value. According to information received yesterday at Alexandria from Mr. Henriques, the general manager, the company has been definitely informed that the sewage will not be taken to Tourah.

LORD CROMER REWARDED.

To-Day's Guildhall Ceremony.

THE EMPIRE'S ROLL OF FAME.

"Distinguished Talent and Indomitable Energy."

To-day marks one of the most important, as well as one of the most interesting events in the history of modern Egypt, when the citizens of London set their seal upon the life-work of the Empire's great Pro-Consul, the Earl of Cromer, by conferring upon him the greatest honour it is in their power to bestow, and enrolling his name amongst the list of royalties, distinguished statesmen, and great warriors who have earned the gratitude of their country by their deeds of goodness, renown, and valour.

This presentation of this signal and much coveted honour upon Lord Cromer, which was postponed until to-day owing to the state of his Lordship's health, has been looked forward to with great interest both by the Corporation and the people of London.

Our readers will, we think, be better able to understand and appreciate this great ceremony if we give a few interesting particulars connected with its history. To begin with, London's "Roll of Fame," as all know, dates back from ancient times, but our purpose will be served if we confine our selection therefrom within the past century or so. The first name that comes to our notice is that of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, afterwards George the Fourth, then, later in 1840, the much lamented Prince Consort became the recipient of the honour, and in course of time his Royal Highness's four sons, the Prince of Wales; now our Gracious King Edward the Seventh, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Connaught, and the late Duke of Albany took up their freedom by patrimony—that is, on attaining their majority they exercised their right to be enrolled as the sons of a Freeman; their cousin, the Duke of Cambridge, also having done so in 1857. The names which next come to our notice are those of great warriors, Lord Nelson, Captain Thomas Hardy, Vice-Admiral Lord Collingwood, The Duke of Wellington, Lord Napier of Magdala, Lord Wolseley, and Lord Kitchener. Of famous statesmen we find the names of William Pitt, afterwards Earl of Chatham, and in 1784 that of his son the Rt. Hon. William Pitt, who at the age of 24 had been installed as Premier and Chancellor of the Exchequer of England, Sir Robert Peel, Richard Cobden, Canning, Beaconsfield, and Gladstone: Of intrepid travellers, David Livingstone, and Sir Francis McClintock, who, after many years of unsuccessful search and untold hardship, and adventures finally ascertained the fate of Sir John Franklin and his fellow-explorers in the Arctic regions. There follow such famous names as the Earl of Shaftesbury, Lord Brougham, Jenner, Rowland Hill, Lord John Russell, General Grant, the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, Lord Milner, Lord Curzon, etc., etc.

An interesting episode is connected with the conferment of the honour upon Lord Nelson. After the victorious ending of the Battle of the Nile, Admiral Nelson forwarded to the Lord Mayor of London the sword surrendered by the Commanding French Admiral Blanquet, with a letter in which he said that, having the honour of being a Freeman of the City of London, he offered the sword to the Lord Mayor, and requested that the City would honour him by accepting it "as a remembrance that Britannia still rules the waves," adding "which that she may ever do is the prayer of your Lordship's most obedient servant, Horatio Nelson." The letter is addressed from "Vanguard," Mouth of the Nile, August 8th, 1798.

There are four methods by which the Freedom can be acquired (1) by patrimony; the sons of Freeman being entitled, on attaining their majority, to be enrolled as a matter of right; (2) by apprenticeship to a master who is already a Freeman; (3) by purchase; and (4) by gift conferred by the Corporation, honours causa. This latter is only granted in recognition of very distinguished public services. The bestowment of the Freedom is still carried out according to ancient ceremonial, although this is somewhat modified in the case of ordinary admissions. Six citizens, usually selected from the Chairmen of Committees of the Corporation, give their testimony to the fitness of the person about to be honoured with the Freedom, stating that he is "a man of good name and fame; that he does not desire the Freedom of this City whereby to defraud the King or this City of their rights, customs, or advantages, but that he will pay his scot and bear his lot; and so they all say."

A few facts concerning the Court of Common Council, which has the exclusive right of conferring the honorary Freedom of the City may not be inappropriate. The Council consists of 206 members, and shares with the Court of Aldermen, which numbers 26 members, the responsibility, under the Lord Mayor, of the government of the City of London.

The Court is entrusted with the management of the finances and estates of the Corporation, elects most of the officials, and controls the police. The City also elects a Sheriff of Middlesex as well as of London, and the Lord Mayor is elected by the Trade Guilds in Common Hall from among the Aldermen who have served as Sheriffs.

The Court of Aldermen is of very ancient origin, the first mention of such a Court being found in an ancient chronicle, where the writer—himself an Alderman—says, "In the year

1200 were chosen five and twenty of the more discreet men of the City, and sworn to take counsel on behalf of the City, together with the Mayor."

The City appears to have been governed by the Court of Aldermen before the Common Council was in existence. The earliest known list of members of this Council is found in the City Archives about the date 1285.

The Guildhall, where this very interesting ceremony takes place to-day, is one of London's most ancient and historic buildings. It still retains the greater part of the old building which was damaged in the great fire of London in 1666, and was rebuilt by Dance in 1798.

The resolution that the Freedom be conferred upon Lord Cromer was passed at a meeting of the Court of Common Council held on the 31st of May last, and was in the following terms:—"Resolved that the Freedom of the City in a suitable gold box be conferred on the Hon. Evelyn Baring, Earl of Cromer G.C.B., O.M.E., K.C.S.I., C.I.E., in recognition of the long and eminent public services he has rendered to his country, and more especially for the distinguished talent and indomitable energy he has displayed in the discharge during nearly a quarter of a century of the important and onerous duties which have devolved upon him as the representative of the British Government in the ancient and historic land of Egypt."

This was moved by Mr. J. W. Domoney, Chief Commoner, and Chairman of the City Lands Committee, who paid a warm tribute to the work carried out by Lord Cromer. He said that the services rendered by Lord Cromer during his twenty-five years' labours in Egypt were quite outside ordinary circumstances, and deserved the greatest recognition that could be bestowed. It was twenty-five years since Sir Evelyn Baring went to Egypt. On his arrival he found the place in a state of chaos, when he left it its administration and policy—owing to his wise and admirable work—were secure and lasting. His straightforward dealing and impartiality in all his relations with the natives accounted for his enormous influence over them.

Sir George Faudel-Phillips, in seconding the resolution, said Lord Cromer would go down to history as one of our great pro-consuls, ranking with such men as Lord Clive. He was not born to greatness, but he was a man who, having great opportunities, made great epochs in our national history. There was nothing which could redound to the interest of this great Empire and add more to its reputation and glory than what had been done in Egypt. Instead of that country being, as it now is, amongst the most civilised parts of the globe, it was not too much to say that it would be in the hands of ignorant and despotic rulers, with the result that the trouble to Europe would be irreparable. Lord Cromer had won the confidence of men whose only previous experiences of government were a tradition, and knowledge of cruelty and oppression which terrified them—he had first won their confidence and then their goodwill. They were voting that day to one of their greatest living statesmen the greatest honour they possessed, and the Corporation, in so doing, was honouring a man who had done wonderful service—a service which had been recognised not only by the people of this country, but by the civilised nations of the world.

The motion was then put and carried unanimously and with acclamation, and it was referred to the City Lands Committee to make the necessary arrangements in the event of Lord Cromer's accepting the proposed compliment.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Dimsdale, Bt., K.O.V.O., whose duty it will be to present the Freedom to Lord Cromer to-day, has been Chamberlain of the City of London since 1902. He has served the City faithfully for many years and had the great honour of holding the position of Lord Mayor during the Coronation year.

KAMEL'S PARTY.

We have received a circular from Mustapha Pasha Kamel asking us if we would like to be members of his own National Party in accordance with the programme, the ten points of which we published last Friday. His method of forming the party is original and resourceful. Every one who likes to send him a line saying that he agrees with his programme becomes a non-active member. The active members apparently will be his brothers, brothers-in-law, uncles, cousins and other more remote relations, of whom, in Egypt, there are no limits, and his staff, printers and printers' devils.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN ARTIST.

Mr. A. O. Lamplough, the noted Anglo-Egyptian water-colour artist whose exhibition at 61 New Bond Street, London, W., was recently visited by Princess Henry of Battenberg, when her Royal Highness purchased several of Mr. Lamplough's paintings of Egypt and Nubia, visited Buckingham Palace last Friday by special command of King Edward, who expressed his desire to view several of Mr. Lamplough's pictures. Mr. Lamplough who will arrive in Egypt shortly for the season will exhibit his paintings in Alexandria towards the middle of December.

MUSTAPHA KAMEL'S PATRIOTISM.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT)

There is something superb in the spectacle of a dying soldier who, while knowing that his last hope is dead still faces his foe with unmoved calm, quietly and persistently parrying such attacks as he is able, until at last the fatal thrust reaches him, and he falls a martyr to his country, leaving a name to be honoured even by the opposing forces which took his life. But let us imagine that during the moments of his last stand, he had filled the air with the sound of vain-glorious boasting, with a ceaseless song of self praise "behold me I die a martyr to the country which I love as well, through all the ages shall my name be cherished as that of the noblest martyr, the most wonderful patriot that the world has ever known": such a man would still merit the praise of his country inasmuch as he had died in her service though it is possible that such praise would be not unmixed with contempt. Let us suppose that a man whom the world had long since ceased to take seriously, whose power, if he was really ever possessed with any, had departed, let us picture him as striving for the adulation of the people. He rises up and with fevered expressions of patriotism and zeal proclaims himself the chosen leader of his country, pictures in vivid language the terrors of a vile and awful opposition (which exists only in his own imagination) exhorting the people to beware, to guard themselves from the terrible conspiracies which are encompassing them on every hand, and to turn to him as the only being on earth which power endowed to save them. The spectacle ceases to be superb, even the contempt is lacking now, and one is filled only with a sense of pity for a mistaken brother who is making himself supremely ridiculous.

But this is all by the way. I had intended writing of the great speech, made by our great "Director" on the twenty-second day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

"Our Director" was great, there can be no doubt as to that, and from the tangled mass of controversy which fell from his august lips I gather the knowledge that, half blinded by the spirit of true patriotism though he may be, his vision is still sufficiently clear to enable him to see and appreciate his own greatness, equally with the lesser mortals who look up to him with veneration from the street. Some have even gone as far as to suggest that he is of more importance in his own eyes than he is in the eyes of others, but this is no isolated instance of where the ignorance of the common herd has robbed genius of immediate recognition.

The details of his speech are by this time familiar to all. Every one who could read, rich and poor, lowly and great, expended his half piastre and secured, through the medium of the press, the priceless utterances of a great man. Indeed it is safe to assert that such was the stir caused by the great event, that even "Punch" in the brightest days of its zenith, was never read with more avidity than was the great organ of the National movement yesterday. "Garlands of flowers" we read, were presented to the great man at the conclusion of his wonderful effort. Even Gladstone in all his glory never attained to this, but here is an orator who has ascended with one bound to the giddy heights of fame hitherto sacred to an Edna May or Phyllis Dare.

It is a pleasant suggestion truly that half a life mispent entitles a man to perfect happiness for the remainder of his days, and this at least is the inference I draw from the remarks anent the centuries which "our Director" accuses the Egyptians of having wasted. He asserts that by reason of these mis-spent centuries Egypt is now entitled to immediate and prolonged happiness. May the happiness be both immediate and prolonged, Director, but forgive me if I cannot quite follow your argument.

It is certainly most annoying when one has spent both time and money (no matter whose) in the making of a party which is destined "in the minds of its promoters to become the recognized mouth-piece of those people, who should by every tenet of right consider themselves oppressed; it is more than annoying, it is heart-rending, to find the chosen legion of the oppressed refusing point blank to act in the roll allotted to them, and accusing the mouth-piece of uttering false echoes; therefore one is not surprised to find that the "Director" should be indignant, and reiterate his appeal that there should be but one party—his own—and but one leader—himself.

And why should the fortune hunting English leave their own country in order to introduce reform into the irrigation service of this, when they are themselves to benefit by it? The reforms are of advantage to the Egyptian also, but that is not the point. The system was introduced by the English, and is therefore but a part of the time-worn scheme carefully woven wherein to ensnare the unsuspecting Egyptian, and doubtless the more dangerous by reason of the manner in which the venom of purpose is concealed from view.

I will not deal at present with the other numerous points which we scored at Alexandria on the 22nd., but will in conclusion re-echo from the bottom of my heart the shouts which shook the rafters on that historic occasion, Long live Egypt, Long live patriotism, Long live Mustapha Pasha Kamel,—the most amusing man in Egypt.

MINISTRY OF EDUCATION.

THE REBELLO'S STUDENTS.

No further light has been thrown upon the reasons which prompted two of the students, who were sent to England by the Ministry of Public Instruction, to leave their college without warning, and to dispatch the cable to the Ministry which has led to their immediate discharge. The first news which the Ministry received of this foolish action, came from the youths themselves, in the form of a telegram, in which they stated that it was impossible for them to remain longer at the college and had gone to Nottingham, where they were awaiting orders to return to Egypt, or in the event of such orders not being forthcoming they would consider themselves discharged.

On receipt of this telegram the Ministry cabled to England to the principal of the college which the boys had left, and were informed that they had refused to give any reason for their conduct, only saying that it was impossible for them to remain longer in the place. The Ministry, very justly considering this action and the cable addressed to themselves as unwarrantable impertinence, cabled after due consideration, to the effect that the boys were discharged, and they are now negotiating for the filling of their places by two fresh students who, it is to be hoped, will be imbued with a little more respect for the Ministry which has taken their welfare in its charge, than their predecessors.

Some persons take a very long time to arrive at the age of discretion, and it would appear that these two youths are particularly backward in this respect. Had they lodged a legitimate complaint as to their treatment or whatever was troubling them, they would have been sure of a prompt and thorough enquiry, but they have acted like children, and fully deserve to receive the punishment usual in such cases.

THE LATE DR. GARNER.

A VALUED STATE SERVANT.

The sudden death of Dr. Garner, which we announced on Saturday, came as a very painful shock to his many friends in Egypt, many of whom had not even known that he was unwell, his illness only dating from Tuesday evening last. Coming to Egypt in 1899, when he joined the Sanitary Department, Dr. Garner was subsequently recommended by his Department to the British Government for service with a survey party in the neighbourhood of Lake Rudolph, to which district, accompanied by Major Bright D.S.O., of the Rifle Brigade, and Major Austin, R.E., he was eventually sent. The whole party was ultimately attacked by a severe form of scurvy, and it was mainly due to the pluck, skill, and endurance displayed by Dr. Garner that the expedition did not end fatally.

Since his return to Egypt he has been actively engaged in the usual work of his department in the provinces, and was for the last two years specially engaged in fighting the plague in Upper Egypt, and it was his indefatigable work in this direction that we feared to be the undermining of his constitution in the first place.

Much of Dr. Garner's work had centred round Tanta and Zagazig. He was well-known throughout Egypt, and it may be truly said that he did not possess a single enemy in the country, while his death at the early age of forty-one, will be lamented by all who came in contact with the charm of his personality.

SAFT EL MELOUK ACCIDENT.

EXPLANATIONS OF DELAY.

The official report on the accident which occurred on the Cairo-Alexandria line on Friday last, and which occasioned such prolonged delay, are not yet to be seen, and it is therefore difficult to ascertain if the delay of four hours was justified by circumstances. It appears that there were two accidents of a different nature at or near the same spot during the one day. Our Cairo correspondent now writes that, as already reported, the first of these was occasioned by the night mail from Cairo being derailed by a bale of cotton which had fallen from an earlier train, and thereby blocked both up and down lines. A relief train was sent for, but it was not until 7.30 a.m., when the lines were just cleared, that this train arrived, too late to be of any assistance, and the ordinary train proceeded to Alexandria.

The accident occurred at 3.14 a.m. and at a point on the road which is almost at the maximum distance from a breakdown station. It would therefore seem that, provided that the necessary celerity was used in the despatching of telegrams etc. for the relief and taking into consideration the difficulties of time and place the delay was not inordinate.

The second accident, caused by six trucks of cotton becoming ignited on the track, occurred at 12.35 p.m. and was responsible for the second delay in the traffic, as it was not considered safe to run a train past the flaming waggon, even though the track was clear.

COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.

The Ministers arrived at Alexandria from Cairo last night to attend a Council which will be held at Ras el Tin palace this afternoon under the presidency of the Khedive.

STEAMER MOVEMENTS.

The Ellerman liner "Barcelona" sailed on Saturday evening for Liverpool direct with a general cargo including 4,635 bales of cotton. The Ellerman liner "City of Oxford" sailed from Liverpool on Saturday for Gibraltar, Malta and Alexandria with a general cargo.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

When the Duke and Duchess of Connaught go to Malta this winter they will be accompanied by Mr. Myles Ponsonby and Sir John and Lady Maxwell. It is understood that the Duke's official duties will cause him to reside not only at Malta, but at Gibraltar, Cyprus, and Cairo, and his leave of absence will only be two months in the year. It is especially arranged that his Royal Highness will take precedence over the Governors of Malta, Gibraltar, and Cyprus, and the salaries of the Governors in question will all be considerably reduced.

The Sultan of Tambora has abandoned his projected visit to Khartoum, having been convinced that the journey is too trying to undertake at his advanced age.

Sir Eldon Gorst is leaving Cairo in January for the Sudan and will meet Mr. Winston Churchill at Khartoum and return with him to Egypt.

Lord Nunburnholme, whose death is announced in this morning's telegrams, was only raised to the peerage last year and is better known as Charles Wilson, of Warter Priory, and partner in the great shipping firm of Hull with his brother of Tranby Croft. He was born in 1833 and sat in Parliament for Hull from 1874 to 1905. One of his daughters married the Earl of Chesterfield, and another Sir Charles Hartopp, and after the divorce Lord Cowley.

The P. and O. S.S. "Caledonia," aboard of which are the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Lady Gorst, and Lady Mellwraith is due at Port Said on Wednesday.

Rear-Admiral Sir Massie Blomfield has returned to Alexandria from Cairo, where he interviewed the Minister of Finance concerning projected reforms in the Ports and Lighthouses Administration.

Major and Mrs. Comfort, father and mother-in-law of Crookshank Pasha, are staying at the Hotel Continental, Paris. Major Comfort was for many years manager of the Standard Oil Company, and afterwards Consul-General at Hong-Kong. They will pass a few weeks on the Riviera before coming to Egypt to join Crookshank Pasha and Mrs. Crookshank.

The marriage of Captain Darell, the winner of the Diamond Skulls who is stationed at Cairo, and Miss Jessie Bainbridge will be celebrated at the Guards' Chapel, Wellington Barracks, on Saturday next. Captain Darell is a son of Sir Lionel and Lady Darell, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bainbridge.

Charlton Bey has arrived in Cairo and is staying at Sheppard's Hotel.

Mr. Charles Baehler is expected to arrive from Europe on the 7th proxo.

John Haicelis Bey, proprietor and manager of the "Phare d'Alexandrie," arrived at Alexandria yesterday by the Florio-Rubattino mail boat.

Major Ravenscroft, Dr. and Mrs. Balfour, Mr. Bevan, Mr. and Mrs. More, Captain Kennedy, and Lieutenant and Mrs. Page have arrived at Khartoum from Cairo.

Mr. Frederick Manson and Mr. Howard Back arrived at Alexandria this morning by the S.S. "Osmanieh," which vessel they joined at Piræus.

Mr. Hewlett has been appointed editor of the Cairo Society journal "The Sphinx." Mr. Hewlett is a younger brother of the famous novelist Mr. Maurice Hewlett, and nephew of Sir James Knowles, editor of the "Nineteenth Century."

The appointment of Sheikh Mohamed Bekheet as Cadi of Alexandria is shortly to be submitted to the Khedive's approval.

Among the passengers who arrived this morning by the S.S. "Cleopatra," Austrian Lloyd mail boat, were Baron E. de Menasse and family, Baron H. de Menasse, Count and Countess Antoine Zoghbe, Mr. Meinecke, Mr. E. Nahmann, Loutfy Bey, Mr. and Mrs. Lascaris, Mr. Paleologo, Mr. and Mrs. Elie Piha, Mrs. Raff, Mrs. O. Soares, Mr. Valassopolo, Mr. R. Werner, Mr. and Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Bramley, Mr. Gripari, Mr. N. Scodis, Mr. and Mrs. Kennel, Mr. Moreno, Mr. Schlosser, Mrs. Wessely, and Mr. Wolf.

AN ABSCONDER ARRESTED.

The Sudan is certainly an unfavourable place for would-be absconders. No one can escape beyond its borders without being caught up with on the way, as soon as he is "missed." A recent incident clearly illustrates this fact. Two persons, we are told, came to Omdurman last year from Upper Egypt and started business. They were enabled to contract several debts, the settlement of which they seem to have regarded as a matter of no importance. Last week one of these "gentlemen" tried to abscond and had actually secured his ticket and boarded the northbound train. Learning of his departure one of the leading merchants of Khartoum, who happens to be one of the principal creditors, informed the authorities and a telegraphic warrant was despatched, by virtue of which the would-be absconder was invited to return from Atbara to Khartoum by the next train.

BULLETIN DE LA BOURSE

(Aujourd'hui à midi)

La séance de ce matin a été presque nulle. On craint beaucoup, surtout les petites valeurs nouvelles au rabais, mais les amateurs faisaient défaut. Toute l'attention s'est concentrée sur la National Bank, l'Agricole, l'United et le Comptoir.

Cette dernière a pour ainsi dire un intérêt d'actualité à cause de la prochaine assemblée, qui doit avoir lieu le 31 de ce mois. Pourtant, après avoir été vigoureusement poussée naguère, elle perd du terrain depuis quelques jours. Aujourd'hui elle s'inscrit en nouvelle baisse de 1/16 à 2 29/32 l'ancienne et 2 31/32 la nouvelle.

A la faveur d'une légère demande, l'Agricole reprend de 8 1/16 à 8 3/32 et la National Bank de 21 3/8 à 21 9/16. L'action United est soutenue à 9/32.

La Delta Land, qui avait subi la semaine dernière une série de dépréciations, bénéficie ce matin d'un retour en faveur et progresse pour ce motif de 1 1/4 à 1 9/32.

Avec une petite amélioration de la Land Bank de 7 1/8 à 7 3/16, c'est à peu près tout ce qu'il y a d'intéressant à signaler.

Des offres, qui sont restées pour la plupart sans résultat, faute d'acheteurs, ramènent la Ramleh de 4 1/2 à 4 3/8, les Privileges Tramways d'Alexandrie de 140 à 138, la Bière d'Alexandrie Privilegiée de 136 à 135, les Sucreries de 31 à 30, les Estates de 1/2 à 15/32, l'Union Foncière de 4 13/16 à 4 3/4 et la Land Investment and Building de 3/8 à 7/32.

L'Obligation Crédit Foncier gagne une avance de 50 centimes à 297 1/2 l'ancienne et 254 la nouvelle.

Il a été vendu aux enchères publiques 100 Fanous (Land Investment and Building) au prix de 3/16-7/32. C'est ce qui a déterminé l'inscription du cours nouveau à 7/32, contre 3/8 hier, soit 40 % de baisse. Voilà ce qui arrive avec bon nombre de nos valeurs nouvelles qui ne sont guère traitées que par voie d'enchères.

Beaucoup attribuent la mauvaise tenue de notre marché à la crise américaine. Cependant, pour être juste, il faut avouer qu'on ne semble pas ici fort impressionné par cet événement. Il n'y a pas de baisse proprement dite. Tout ce qu'on peut dire, c'est que les affaires sont de plus en plus rares, mais c'est là une situation à laquelle nous sommes habitués depuis longtemps.

Vendredi passé les actions de la Delta Land avaient fléchi sur le bruit que le Gouvernement aurait décidé d'établir à Tounah le champ d'épandage. Si cela était, la propriété que possède la Société à Maadi perdrait, en effet, beaucoup de sa valeur. Mais nous tenons de M. Henriques, directeur général de la Delta Land, de passage hier à Alexandrie, que la Société a été définitivement informée que les égoûts du Caire ne seraient pas dirigés sur Tounah.

GERMAN JOURNALIST IN COURT.

THE KAISER INVOLVED.

AN INFLUENTIAL COTERIE.

EVIDENCE FAVOURS DEFENDANT.

BERLIN, October 26.

The whole of Europe, and especially Germany, is profoundly moved by the libel action now proceeding here against the well-known journalist, Herr Harden, who published articles in the paper "Zukunft" alleging that the Emperor was surrounded and influenced politically by a coterie, the principal members of which were Prince Eulenburg, formerly Ambassador at Vienna, Count Moltke, Commandant at Berlin, and Count de Hohenau. The articles further hinted that this coterie was a hotbed of detestable vices. It was elicited at the trial that the Crown Prince had submitted the articles to the Emperor and the dismissal of Prince Eulenburg and others instantly followed. Considerable evidence has been adduced corroborating the "Zukunft" reports. Count de Moltke, who is a plaintiff in the action, has positively denied the practices alleged, and affirmed ignorance of his intimate friends being concerned therein. Prince Eulenburg is absent ill. The proceedings reveal a deplorable state of things in a section of the highest aristocracy of Berlin. A crowd tumultuously cheered Herr Harden shouting "Long Live Truth." Judgment is expected to be delivered on Monday. (Reuter)

BERLIN, October 27.

The Harden trial has been concluded. The verdict will be given on Tuesday. Herr Harden's counsel contended that Count Moltke compelled him to take action. Herr Harden in a speech denied that the articles in the "Zukunft" were aimed at Count Moltke. He said that Prince Eulenburg's return to Germany necessitated the resumption of the articles. A camarilla's influence with the Emperor had led to the resignation of Bismarck and Caprivi's fall was due to Prince Eulenburg. Prince Buelow was Prince Eulenburg's creation but was now his bitterest enemy. The Morocco affair was due to Prince Eulenburg's influence. Leaving the court Herr Harden was ovated: Count Moltke was protected by the police. (Reuter)

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

Many so called women's complaints can be traced to disorders of the liver, stomach and bowels. A woman's work is more or less sedentary; she does not get the fresh air, the exercise, or the regular hours of rest that a man does, so that the liver becomes sluggish, the system does not get the rest it needs, and there is not a regular motion of the bowels. Constipation is one of the worst dangers a woman has to fear, and the longer it is neglected, the more deeply rooted it becomes. The bowels are swollen and enlarged, thus displacing members of the female organism, and causing stomach pains, difficulty in breathing, windy spasms, headache, vomiting, a feeling of fullness after meals, bloodlessness, etc. But men who are constipated suffer from these same symptoms, so that it cannot be female trouble. When the constipation is cured, the distressing complaints will quickly disappear. Doan's Dinner Pills give tone and new vigour to the muscular walls of the colon, and soften the mass of waste matter, so that the bowels act naturally, and discharge the clogging impurities. A box of Doan's Dinner Pills should always be kept in the house, and a dose taken when the bowels have been inactive, or whenever food disagrees, or when there is a feeling of heaviness and discomfort in the region of the stomach. This medicine is purely vegetable, and perfectly harmless for men or women, young and old.

The sufferer from "habitual" constipation should take a regular walk every day, drink plenty of pure water, and breathe deeply, not only while Doan's Dinner Pills are being used, but afterwards, then no return of the disorder need be feared.

Doan's Dinner Pills are the best medicine for biliousness, indigestion, constipation, for headache, retching, dizziness, distress after eating, poor appetite, yellow eyes, heartburn, wind, and for every liver, stomach and bowel trouble. Doan's Dinner Pills are sold by all chemists and druggists, at 6 P.T. per box, or 30 P.T. for six boxes; or they may be bought direct from the agents for Egypt, Mr. E. Del Mar, Rue Hotel du Nil, and Rue Mousky, Cairo; Rue Tewfik, (opposite the Bourse), Alexandria, and Rue Commerciale, Port Said; and Messrs. S. Fischer & Co, Rue Sheriff Pasha, Alexandria.

FOR PILES, Eczema, Itch, and Irritating Skin Complaints, Doan's Ointment is a sure and a lasting cure. Doan's Ointment is 13 P.T. a pot. It is sold by all chemists and druggists, or it may be had direct from the agents for Egypt, Mr. E. Del Mar, Rue Hotel du Nil and Rue Mousky, Cairo; Rue Tewfik, (opposite the Bourse), Alexandria, and Rue Commerciale, Port Said; and Messrs. S. Fischer & Co, Rue Sheriff Pasha, Alexandria.

OCTOBER SKYE MEETING.

Quite an increased and fashionable attendance was present at the last race meeting of the Alexandria season. Numerous fresh faces were noticed among the arrivals from Europe and not a few of the officers from the recently arrived battalion of Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers from Cairo. In connection with this regiment special mention must be made of the excellent band under the conductorship of Bandmaster R. Watson Ramsey, which has earned such a high reputation in Cairo, and the delightful rendering of an admirable programme during the afternoon fully upheld its reputation.

Racing and betting were keen, the chief surprises of the afternoon being the disqualification of Kahraman for carrying underweight, in the Aboukir stakes, the race going to Kara Aslan, and the success of Prince Omar Pasha Toussoun's Hilal in the Omdurman Plate, beating such favorites as Telmesse, Dughan and Valentino.

Subsequently we learn an objection was lodged with the stewards against Radium in the Nile Plate, it being contended that the jockeys of Radium and Rainbow, both from the same stable, prevented Khadrouf getting through. The latter certainly lost ground in having to wait for an opening, but the general opinion was that the rider of Khadrouf should not have tried to separate the two, from the same stable, who were running neck and neck, it being hardly likely that either would open out to let another horse through. The stewards, however, thought otherwise and decided in favor of Khadrouf, so backers of Radium had cause to congratulate themselves that the decision was not made in time to prevent their having been paid by the pari mutual.

Askar, which was sold by lottery, was won by a lady with ticket No. 111, an especially lucky win seeing that the ticket was bought on the course at the last moment.

The following are the results:—

Chacun choisit, pour se purger, l'heure et le repas qui lui conviennent le mieux, selon ses occupations.
